Cultural Sensitivity Statement

Use of the material

When using this finding aid, and the collection described within it, clients are encouraged to be mindful and sensitive to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples; particularly with regard to the use of this material. This includes:

Language

This finding aid and collection may contain words and descriptions which may be culturally inappropriate and insensitive. The language used in this collection may not normally be used in certain public or community contexts. Clients may encounter terms and descriptions, which reflect the author's attitude or that of the period in which the manuscript was written, that may be considered inappropriate today.

Deceased persons

Clients using this finding aid should be aware that in some Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities, hearing recordings, seeing images or the names of deceased persons may cause sadness or distress and in some cases, offend against strongly held cultural beliefs.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Content

Biographical history note

Historian and author Dr Neville Green AO, was born in 1933 in Perth, Western Australia. After spending six years in the Royal Australian Air Force in the early 1950s, Green trained as a teacher and spent years working in remote Indigenous schools. In 1976, Green took up the role of lecturer at Western Australia's first Aboriginal Teacher Education Project (ATEP) at Mt Lawley, Teachers College (now a campus of Edith Cowan University), where he remained until 1992. This was the first tertiary institution in Australia to offer fully accredited teacher programs for Aboriginal students.

As of 2021, Dr Green has authored thirteen books on Australian Aboriginal history, sharing the stories of Aboriginal Elders, exposing the impacts of early settlers and developing reference lists to help identify different Communities mentioned throughout historical texts. Dr Green is a Member of the Order of Australia, recognised for his 'service to the community as a historian specialising in Native title and Indigenous projects, as an author, and to professional associations.'
