BACKGROUND NOTE

The Aboriginal Legal Service of Western Australia Inc. \(ALSWA\) is one of the longest running community based Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander legal aid services in Australia. As well as its head office in Perth, it has 17 offices in country locations throughout Western Australia. Elected Aboriginal community representatives govern ALSWA through an Executive Committee which meets four times a year.

ALSWA had its origins in the Justice Committee of the New Era Aboriginal Fellowship, at a time when there were very minimal legal services in Western Australia meeting the needs of Aboriginal Western Australians. The Justice Committee set up a voluntary advisory legal aid service in Perth in the early 1970s, operating out of rooms in the Aboriginal Advancement Council Building in Perth.

An increase in Commonwealth government funding enabled the Aboriginal Legal Service to open an office with full time staff in May 1973. The ALSWA was incorporated in January 1975. In the first three years of operation, ALSWA established regional offices in Narrogin, Port Headland, Kalgoorlie, Kununurra, Carnarvon and Laverton to provide legal aid services to Aboriginal Western Australians living in country areas. By 1978 the ALSWA was effectively a statewide organisation, with further offices in Derby, Broome and Geraldton, and Honorary Field Officers based in Meekatharra, Pinjarra, Onslow, Roebourne and Medina.
