ACCESS

The bulk of the material is available to be read, and a reasonable portion may be copied for private study and research and/or published with acknowledgement. [Access code R1 C1b]. The exception is Series 37 which is available to be read, copied and quoted. [Access code A1 B5]

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Date range: 1886-2005 (bulk 1962-95)

Extent: 11.3 metres (60 boxes + 3 folio boxes + 2 folio folder boxes or binders) plus boxed ephemera and map folder.

Alice Moyle, a pioneer in ethnomusicology and Aboriginal Studies in Australia, and founding member of AIATSIS, deposited the bulk of her personal papers, correspondence, manuscripts, audio-visual materials and publications with AIATSIS in 1996. At that time a special AIATSIS Council grant was made available for the creation of a detailed and systematic listing of these materials, and their relocation to the appropriate collections within the Institute.

This project was initially undertaken by Grace Koch and Stephen Wild who sorted the material in Moyle's office at the Institute. Koch then sorted a further 35 boxes from Moyle's Sydney home.

Kathleen Oien completed the sorting, arranging and listing Moyle's personal papers and publications and the physical rehousing of this material within the various collections within AIATSIS. She then prepared a 'Sheaf catalogue' to the manuscript part of the collection that has since been updated to become Series 1-19 of this finding aid.

All slides, photographs, audio tapes, disc recordings that formed part of this collection can be accessed through the Audiovisual Archives. See Series 37 Item 1 for further details.

In 2002 Alice Moyle's family added to this collection by depositing with the Library an additional 21 cartons and a large number of books and journals that were collected by Moyle. In March 2003 the Audiovisual Archives transferred to the Library further material including Moyle's original 'source lists' related to audio tapes Moyle collected from various researchers before 1970 [primarily of tapes already in the Audiovisual Archives], and field notebooks. In this finding aid the 2002 and 2003 acquisitions have been described as Addition 2003.

In 2019, several large flat items were found in the AIATSIS library and were added to this collection by Angela Schilling (they had been sighted and identified by Grace Koch in 2006 but were not added to any collection). These items have been added to Series 5 and Series 19, and described in the Series Description below. All items added in 2019 are held in the Manuscript Plan Cabinet due to their large size.

Square brackets have been used in this finding aid to indicate additional information derived from the collection and sources other than that supplied by the author.

AIATSIS Library wishes to thank Carolyn Lowry (Moyle's daughter), Grace Koch, Jill Stubington and Julie Waddy for their assistance in the preparation of this finding aid.

ONLINE EXHIBITION

Musical Connections – the Life and Work of Alice Marshall Moyle, an online exhibition, can be found on the AIATSIS web site at http://aiatsis.gov.au/lbry/dig_prgm/alice_moyle/moyle_hm.htm.

Over a hundred of the letters from Series 1, Correspondence, 1927–94 are included in this exhibition as well as other exhibits offering insights into Moyle and her work. There are also links to other web sites which may be of interest.

Alice Marshall Moyle (nee Brown) was born at Bloemfontein, South Africa on 25 December 1908 and migrated to Australia with her parents Margaretta and Ellison Brown about 1912. She graduated from the University of Melbourne with a Bachelor of Music in piano and cello in 1930 and spent a number of years as a private piano teacher (1930-33) and a journalist. She married John Murray Moyle in 1933 and they had two daughters. While her husband served in the RAAF during World War II Moyle was music critic for Wireless Weekly in Sydney (1939-43) commenting on orchestral and broadcasting developments.

In the late 1940s Moyle returned to formal academic studies at the University of Sydney and was awarded a Bachelor of Arts (Hons) degree in 1954. Although she was first attracted to the study of the music of ancient Greece, a talk by the late A.P. Elkin, then Professor of Anthropology at the University of Sydney, prompted her to undertake a study of the recordings of Aboriginal music made by Elkin. For this work she was awarded the Master of Arts (Hons) in 1957.

Moyle undertook her first field trip about 1958-59. The trip was financed by her husband, John Moyle [editor of the journal Radio, television and hobbies now Electronics Australia] who also built the recording equipment she used during the trip. John Moyle died in 1960.

From 1960 to 1963 Moyle worked part-time as a Teaching Fellow in the then new Music Department at the University of Sydney. She was a founding member of the Australian Institute of Aboriginal Studies (AIAS) and became a Research Officer there from 1964 to 1965. From 1966-73 Moyle was AIAS Research Fellow in Ethnomusicology, based at Monash University, 1966-73 and later a Research Fellow and Research Officer at the Institute in 1973 and 1974 respectively. Under the auspices of the Institute she undertook extensive field trips. Her first doctoral thesis based on recordings made during these field trips was the first systematic attempt to identify and musically characterise the many different styles and genres of Aboriginal music found in northern and central Australia. Moyle was awarded her PhD from Monash University in 1975.

Moyle's work has included the documentation of Aboriginal sound instruments, the history of Aboriginal music and dance through film, field recordings, archaeo-musicology, analysis, taxonomy, and the cataloguing and indexing of ethno-musicological material held in the Institute. She took a great interest in the preservation of recorded sound material and was the guiding force behind the establishment of the 'Sound Archive' at the (then) AIAS.

The stylistic mapping Moyle undertook has provided the foundation for future studies of music from this region. The material is accessible and her publications are used whenever Aboriginal music is studied in schools and tertiary institutions. Moyle also played a key role in the establishment of the Musicological Society of Australia and in 1982-83 served as the Society's National President. She was later instrumental in forming a branch of the International Council for Traditional Music in Australia.

Throughout her career, Moyle has published numerous articles and sound recordings. For a complete listing of these publications held by the Library see also Mura® online catalogue and for all her audiovisual material contact Audiovisual Archives.

Moyle became a Member of the Order of Australia – General Division on Australia Day 1977, was elected as an Honorary Fellow of the Australian Academy of the Humanities on 4 November 1994, and received a degree of Doctor of Music (honoris causa) from the University of Sydney in 1989 and another from the University of Melbourne in 1995.

Alice Moyle died in Sydney on 9 April 2005.

For a tape [and transcription] of an interview with Moyle on her general life history and research, recorded by Grace Koch, Carolyn Lowry and Kathleen Oien, 1997 contact Audiovisual Archives.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

Series 1 Correspondence, 1927-94

This series includes approximately 4,800 letters to or from Alice Moyle relating to her work on ethnomusicology from 1927 to 1994. All the correspondence was indexed on a 'File Maker Pro database 5' in 1996 by Kathleen Oien. A copy of the CD and a printout of the index are located at Series 1 Items 147-150.

Over one hundred letters from this series are exhibited in an AIATSIS online exhibition entitled Musical Connections – the Life and Work of Alice Marshall Moyle that can be found on the AIATSIS web site at http://aiatsis.gov.au/lbry/dig_prgm/alice_moyle/moyle_hm.htm.

In the exhibition the letters have been grouped into subjects, with a brief explanatory note about the significance of each group of letters. There is also a short explanation about each individual letter, often giving links to other websites which contain further information, for example, about those with whom Moyle was corresponding.

Series 3 Gudarrgu Project

This was a joint project planned by Alice Moyle and Alex van der Leeden in the 1960s. It was to be a study, based on their field recordings, of Nunggubuyu Brolga songs (Northern Arnhem Land) and includes description and interpretation of song texts, as well as their musical and cultural contexts. The book was to be jointly published by Moyle and van der Leeden under the suggested title of 'Guda'rgu. A joint study of an Australian Aboriginal song style'. Estimated length to be 400 pages.

Item

- 1 Typed and handwritten notes on planning of project; tentative table of contents, description of project; and genealogical chart
- 2-3 Various tables including collection inventory, item inventory, and item characteristics
- 4 Song inventory and song texts
- 5 Typescript draft - van der Leeden's analysis of his recording. Also copies of two letters from van der Leeden, 1966
- 6 Copies of field tape report sheets for van der Leeden's collection held in Audiovisual Archives

Series 4 Ethnomusicology courses taught, 1960-72

This series comprises lecture notes for courses given by Moyle at the University of Sydney and Monash University. See also Series 32.

Item

- 1 Music III. Ethnomusicology 1 (University of Sydney, 1960). Introduction and outline of course, lectures and handwritten notes

Series 5 Melograms produced at UCLA, 1970-72

This series includes melograms (i.e. a graphic indication of a melodic line produced by a melograph machine). Melograms were used by ethnomusicologists at the University of California (UCLA) where Moyle undertook research.

Items 37-43 were added to this Series in December, 2019 by Angela Schilling. Item 41 is a graphical depiction of songs, here showing frequencies and patterns of vocal and instrument entries. These graphical notations were produced at Uppsala University, Sweden. Items 37-43 are held in Manuscript Plan Cabinet.

Item

- 1 Miscellaneous notes on melograms
- 2 Datamate lined notebook labelled 'Melograms UCLA: Red Book'
- 3 Photocopied extracts from Moyle's thesis with illustrations, explanations, and analysis of handgraphs, melograms and polly-graphs
- 4 Melograms 1-11
- 5 Melograms 12-17
- 6 Melograms 18-22
- 7 Melograms 23-34
- 8 Melograms 35-43 (rolled)
- 9 Two carbon copies of melograms (rolled)
- 10 Table of musical attributes by tribal area
- 11 Melograms 44-53
- 12 Melograms 54-59
- 13 Melograms 60-65
- 14 Melograms 66-73
- 15 Melograms 74-79

- 16 Melogram 80a (rolled)
- 17 Melogram 80b (rolled)
- 18 Melograms 81-83 (rolled)
- 19 Melogram 84 (rolled)
- 20 Melogram 85 (rolled)

- 9 Large black and white photographic print of a bark painting depicting a ceremonial song and dance scene, Groote Eylandt, with typescript explanation and smaller, labelled copy of photo [located in Manuscript Plan Cabinet]

Series 10 Computer database projects

Moyle was interested in using computers for research analysis from the 1960s. Her three main projects included the creation of a computer databank for analysis of musical attributes of Aboriginal songs; a 'Computerised index of Aboriginal songs by area'; and a 'Computer index of Australian Aboriginal song words'. This series includes papers relating to these projects. The Library also holds the microfiche version of the 'Computerised index of Aboriginal songs: Cape York area' on at MFE/B29. See also Series 25.

Item

- 1-4 Computer Databank Project. Computerised project (SUNY) assisted by Benjamin Suchoff. Commenced Monash University 1968-72, partially concluded AIAS, 1975. Includes computer printouts, ICRH Newsletters (New York University), and 'A computer application to music', copy of paper presented by Ben Suchoff [Item 1]; key punch forms, handwritten/typescript note and musical notations [Item 2]; musical notations by Moyle and Michael Burns [Item 3]; and data analysis forms [Item 4]. See also Series 1 for further information and correspondence between Moyle and Suchoff
- 5-6 Computerised index of Aboriginal songs by area. Area 'Y' only (Cape York) completed. Joint project between Moyle and Grace Koch, compiled at Coombs Computer Centre, ANU, 1978-81. Includes loose printouts; guide for using the computer [Item 5], bound printout [Item 6], and microfiche version prepared for IASA Conference, Budapest 1981 [Item 6(a)]
- 7 Computer index of Australian Aboriginal song words. Includes explanatory notes; first draft and drafts of coding charts (1969-7).

Series 11 International Council for Traditional Music (ICTM) Colloquium, Townsville 1988

The International Council for Traditional Music (ICTM) is a non-government organisation in formal consultative relations with UNESCO.

In the mid 1980s Alice Moyle planned to mount a colloquium on the theme of traditional music and dance of the South Pacific regions with the support of the ICTM. The colloquium was eventually organised in conjunction with 5th Festival of the Pacific Arts held in Townsville, August 1988.

Moyle edited a publication resulting from the Colloquium, published as Oceania Monograph, no. 41, 1992.

This series includes Moyle's correspondence with UNESCO and others, notes and publicity material relating to the Festival and/or Colloquium and the subsequent publication in Oceania.

Item

- 1 Flyers, programme and newsletter for the Festival of Pacific Arts, Townsville 1988

- 2 Exercise book with notes regarding ICTM Colloquium, by Moyle
- 3-9 Correspondence, arranged chronologically by year, regarding the Colloquium and Oceania publication, 1984-92
- 10 Pre-publication manuscript for Oceania

Series 12 Tasmanian material

Item

- 1 Published papers by Alice Moyle. Includes 'Two native song-styles recorded in Tasmania', Papers & Proceedings of the Royal Society of Tasmania, vol 94, 1960, and 'Tasmanian music, an impasse?' Records of the Queen Victoria Museum, no 26, 1968; Appendix to 'Tasmanian music, an impasse?' as presented at the ANZAAS Conference, 1965; and early draft of 'Tasmanian music, an impasse?'
- 2 Music notations, analytical graphs and text transcriptions
- 3 Manuscripts for submission to volume on Tasmanian music. Includes 'Hell's Child: the triumphant story of Fanny Cochrane Smith', by J. Clark; 'Fanny Smith's recordings', by C. Long; and 'Restoration of Fanny Smith recordings at NFSA', by I. Gilmour
- 4 Published and unpublished material dealing with Tasmanian culture/songs, collected by Moyle
- 5 Material collected from M. Longman (listing of wax cylinders dubbed by Longman in 1959 [including Moyle's music notations]; M. Longman's paper on the Smith recordings, read to the Royal Society of Tasmania, 1959 [including Moyle's contribution to the paper])
- 6 Material collected from the Australian Broadcasting Corporation. Includes 'Songs and war chants of extinct Tasmanian Aborigines'; transcript of an interview with N. B. Tindale, by Bob Lance
- 7 Documentation of Tasmanian material from Monash University
- 8 Typescript and handwritten notes and audition sheets, by Moyle

Series 13 Research notes on ethnomusicology

This series includes Moyle's notes on the papers and/or recordings made by others, especially the number of 'wax cylinder' recordings that she discovered in the archives at the University of Sydney in the 1950s. She took extensive notes on these cylinders, had all of the intact ones dubbed onto tape, and eventually negotiated the transfer of the collection to Monash University. See Series 13 Items 18 for documentation.

Item

- 20 Moyle's 'RA-RD' Collection. Lists and draft of explanatory memo

Series 14 Educational kit, 1980-91

For many years, Alice Moyle received queries, and often requests for an 'educational kit' on Aboriginal music, which could be presented to school age children in the classroom. Moyle produced such a kit, which included written material, audio tapes and slides. She had a great deal of trouble finding a publisher for this kit, but it was finally published by Monash University in 1991.

Moyle's aim in producing such a kit 'was to develop understanding of the importance of music and dance in the culture that, traditionally, has no writing, and to foster recognition of regional differences in Aboriginal songs and dance' [Ref: Series 14 Item 7].

This series includes the original manuscripts, published versions of the kit, and related reports and correspondence. The associated audiovisual material consisting of cassette tapes, videos and indexes (listed at Series 14 Item 11) can be accessed through the Audiovisual Archives. The Library also holds a brief outline of the kit at p MOY and a copy of the kit at KIT M938.41/M1.

See also Series 30 Items 11-13 for correspondence relating to the preparation, publication and distribution of the kit.

Item

- 7 Music and dance in traditional Aboriginal culture. Portions of 1991 published version
- 8 Illustrations. Original photographic prints, copies of slide transparencies and diagrams used in the kit
- 9 Reports on various versions of reports on the kit, by Moyle
- 10 Comments by various educationists, on usage of the educational kit in the classroom
- 11 List of audiovisual material. Includes a list compiled by the Library of slides, audio and video cassettes for the kit, and associated handwritten notes, by Moyle

Series 15 Australian Institute of Aboriginal Studies (AIAS) material, 1963-88

Alice Moyle is the seminal figure in the creation of the Sound Archive at AIATSIS. She, along with Trevor Jones, spoke of the importance of field recordings of music at the Conference on Aboriginal Studies, which set the future directions for the Institute, in May 1961. The conference recommended that a meeting of musicologists be held in order to prepare a set of recommendations for creating a plan for research of Indigenous Australian music. The resulting conference, held at Sydney University in 1963, formulated a core recommendation to the Institute to set up a 'Sound Archive Laboratory' as part of the Institute's central establishment. Other recommendations included that all recorded collections of Australian Aboriginal music should be preserved in this 'laboratory', that disc pressings should be made of all of the recordings, and that work on a catalogue should start without delay (Ref: AIAS Newsletter, vol. 1, no 2, July 1963, pp. 10-11).

The 'sound archive' was first established at the University of Sydney in 1964, moving to the AIAS in Canberra in 1966. The archive went beyond music recordings to include linguistic material. Moyle also worked to find recordings of Indigenous music held by researchers both nationally and internationally, arranging for copies of these to be deposited in the sound archive. Her field work continued until 1979, when she deposited her final recordings with the Institute and left her position as Ethnomusicology Research Officer.

The series includes conference papers, reports, grant applications, notes and newspaper clippings that document the development of the AIAS 'sound archive'. For additional material see also Series 26. See also Series 26.

ADDITION, February 2003

These papers were deposited in the Library from two sources.

In 2002 Alice Moyle's family in Sydney transferred 21 cartons collected from Alice Moyle's homes in Canberra and Sydney. The bulk of this material is described in Series 26-37. The cartons also included approximately two shelf metres of books and journals which have either been incorporated into the general Library collections or offered to other collecting institutions.

Later, in February 2003, Audiovisual Archives transferred papers originally held in Moyle's former office at the Institute. These included the bulk of her handwritten 'source lists' to music on audio tape [typescript version held in Audiovisual Archives]; research papers on Groote Eylandt clan songs; computer printouts related to the 'Computerised index of Aboriginal songs: Cape York area', developed by Moyle and Grace Koch; and miscellaneous correspondence. Most of this material is described in Series 20-25, and 30.

Series 20 Source Lists

This series includes copies of selected written 'source' material relating for Australian Aboriginal song words, collated by Alice Moyle while she worked at Monash University as a Research Fellow of the Australian Institute of Aboriginal Studies prior to 1970. The 'sources', containing more-or-less extended Aboriginal song verses, are mainly drawn from early published journal articles, books, newspapers and occasionally from field notebooks. The papers are arranged in numbered folders and are accompanied by numerical and alphabetically arranged 'Source Lists' prepared by Moyle. The Library has maintained the original numbering system. Typescript indexes to the sources are located in Series 20 Items 1(a)-(c). Larger items (mostly notations) are located in Folio box 2.

The Library does not hold the complete set of these original 306 'sources'. Omitted are those folders that document audio tapes held in AIATSIS Audiovisual Archives. For access to these folders and the typed card index to the sources) contact [Audiovisual Archives. A list of folder numbers not held by the Library is located in Item 1(a).

5 archive boxes

Item

1(a)-(c) Indexes. Includes roneoed typescript and/or photocopies of the preface, 'Key to sound recordings', 'Source list no.1 (Numerical order)', 'Source list no.2 (Alphabetical order)' of 'Computerised index to Australian Aboriginal song words', 1st and 2nd eds. Other copies also held in Library at MS 307 and MS 308

1-306 Sources. Includes Moyle's original copies of all her source material on song words arranged by folder in numerical order. Mainly photocopies

Series 21 Diary and field notebooks, 1962-64

Series 24 Groote Eylandt – Unpublished book material, 1979-2003

During the early 1980s Alice Moyle was working on a book about the music of Groote Eylandt and this series comprises material that she put together for this purpose.

The chief aim of the project, begun in 1981, was to 'bring together a corpus of notated songs (words and music) representing each of the extant Groote Eylandt clans' (Ref: AIAS grant application by Moyle, 31 May 1981). Most of the clan songs were written down, analysed and translated by linguist, Judith Stokes with music notation and investigation of pitch and rhythmic patterns undertaken by Moyle. Some of the research was submitted for publication in the late 1980s but was never published

This series includes numerous notes and notebooks that Moyle used in the preparation for the book, and correspondence and 'query sheets' between Moyle and Stokes.

Item

- 1 Disc plans for Groote Eylandt project
- 2-3 Song word 'Prompt texts'. Handwritten, foolscap, numbered texts made by Moyle on her last major collecting field trip, which was to Groote Eylandt in 1979. The texts were based on tapes she had recorded on her earlier field trips in the 1960s and on tapes of Groote Eylandt songs made by C.P.M. Mountford. The 'Prompt texts' were prepared in order to facilitate obtaining the actual Anindilyakwa song texts
- 4-5 Correspondence between Alice Moyle and Judith Stokes, 1984-85. Includes typescript and handwritten letters, and 'query sheets'
- 6 Handwritten drafts of song texts and corrected texts for Judith Stokes
- 7 Notes collected in preparation for the book, including ceremonies, place names, music and motifs of Groote Eylandt. Mostly handwritten, c.1964-79. Also includes 'List of 1979 field recordings'
- 8 Reference material comprising the 'Research report (1979-81)', by Alice Moyle
- 9 Bibliographic index cards
- 10-16 Research notes and numbered notebooks used in the preparation of the proposed book. Includes notations 1-7, 'Draft 1-3', 'Didgeridu patterns', diaries and a quarto carbon, copy book
- 17 Outline plan for the whole book and first draft of Chapter 1
- 18 Chapters 2-4. Drafts and notes
- 19 Chapter 5. Includes two copies of 'Groote Eylandt clan tunes: towards a comparative method', by Alice Moyle for the Symposium of the International Musicological Society, 28 August-2 September 1988, as submitted for publication but never published
- 20 Chapter 6. Includes copy of Waterman reference; HRC 'Music to words or words to music' paper as submitted for publication with referee's comments; and notes on word stress in speech vs. song
- 21 Appendices. Includes 'Clan song discourse', and 'Introduction to Mountford Collection'
- 22-27 Moiety 1. Includes successive versions of Judith Stokes' song words for Moiety 1, 1980-92. See also MS 3518 (Boxes 10-11)

- 28-32 Moiety 2. Includes successive versions of Judith Stokes song words for Moiety 2, 1980-92. See also MS 3518 (Boxes 10-11)
- 33 Final music notations for publication relating to Moiety 1 and Moiety 2 labelled Book 1. As found. Papers held in Folio (folder) box 1
- 34 Final music notations for publication relating to Moiety 1 and Moiety 2 labelled Book 2 and Book 3. Papers held in Folio (folder) box 2.
- 35 Photocopies of final music notations for publication relating to Moiety 1 and Moiety 2. Oversized items that include photocopies of notations by Elphine Allen, are located in Folio box 3
- 36 Photocopy of obituary for Judith Stokes OAM (30 June 1924-12 June 2003), by Grace Koch and Julie Waddy, published in Australian Aboriginal Studies, no.2, 2003 [included by Library 2003]. Also personal letter and postcard from Judith Stokes to Moyle, 1993 and 1994 respectively

Series 25 Computer database projects continued, 1975-81

This series includes documents relating to the running of the Inter-active Query Language (IQL), an information and retrieval and report writing software system used by Alice Moyle and Grace Koch for inputting and printing out data for their 'Computerised index of Aboriginal songs: Cape York area'. IQL was designed for and run on the DecSystem10 (DEC-10) used at the time by Coombs Computer Services at the Australian National University.

Moyle and Koch designed the programme for the 'Song Index' project along with Mary Grimwood, Mary Rose and Monica Omodei, computer programmers from Coombs Computer Services. Professor John Mulvaney of the Department of Prehistory at the Australian National University had approved the project and that Department had funded the computer time for the project.

The computer manual, guide, dictionary, direction sheets, user log, 'Coombs Computer Services monthly bulletins', and computer printouts of the 'Song index' and handwritten notes were made between 1979-81. See also Series 10 Items 5-9 for a set of final printouts of the 'Song index'. For the associated tape of the 'Song index' contact Audiovisual Archives.

Item

- 1 'Dictionary of command' for IQL.DOC (Inter-active Computer Language). Computer generated printout for IQL software, in blue foolscap binder
- 2 DecSystem10. Inter-active query language reference manual and DecSystem10. Inter-active query language user's guide. Maynard

Massachusetts, Digital Equipment Corporation, 1975

- 3 Procedures for using the DEC-10. Includes 'Using the DEC-10', produced by Coombs Computer Services, 1979, 46pp; computer printout of seven lessons for those using the DEC-10; 'Direction sheets for computer manipulation' of the Coombs computer system; and instructions for backing up documents
- 4 Procedures for using DEC-10 connection from AIAS modem', 1979, (4pp), various handwritten notes and directions outlining how to operate the DEC-10 for the 'Song index' project, and printout of instructions for language control file programme, 1980
- 5-6 Coombs Computer Services reports. Includes 'User log' for the 'Song index' project; December 1979, 'Reports on disc usage for the DEC-10', 1979-81; and various 'Backup logs' and printouts listing the names and running times of the 'Song Index' programmes on the DEC-10, 1980
- 7-10 Early raw data computer printouts of 'Song index', 1979-80 used for editing. Also handwritten, foolscap notes headed 'Checking raw data printouts', by Koch with loose-leaf notes from a lined notebook by Moyle
- 11 Fields and fieldnames. Includes printout of all the possible fields able to be used in IQL software in addition to a listing at end of field and fieldnames for the 'Song index' project, partial printouts, June 1980 and May 1981, complete printout July 1981 Also includes printout of the help file listing functions possible for 'Song index' project, and IQL help files in general
- 12 List of Indigenous Aboriginal languages on the tapes in Audiovisual Archives and their abbreviations used in the 'Song index' project. Typescript foolscap photocopy
- 13 Preface for 'Song index'. Includes computer printout, December 1980, and copy with annotations. Also typescript report on the project, by Grace Koch (n.d.), and typescript table with instructions for those keying in data from Alice Moyle's 'work cards' as well as miscellaneous 'work cards'
- 14 Printouts showing how queries were structured, May 1981
- 15-17 Sort by fields 1-7. Printouts that include sorts by the fields of Aboriginal song titles, English song titles, Aboriginal song series, English song series, and names of song owners
- 18 Sort by songs where there were not spoken song texts (labelled 'spoken'). Shows collector's name, where recorded and identification number

- 19 Sort by 'Island style' songs, and another by 'location'
- 20 Sort by 'tape number'
- 21 Sort by 'place' and 'singer', labelled 'Panic'
- 22-23 Sort by 'location' and 'collector'
- 24 Sort by 'identification number'
- 25 Printout of pitch inventory of songs of 'Island dance' that had been notated by Grace Koch, 1980 This was a separate project from 'Song index' project in IQL
- 26 Coombs Computer Services Monthly Bulletins, 1980-84. Computer printouts (incomplete)
- 27-28 Research proposal with linguist, Bruce Sommer on the song words of Cape York Peninsula, 1973-75. Includes handwritten notes on song-words, draft and final version of memo by Moyle and Sommers (1974), memo from Richard Moyle and submission by Moyle and Sommer. The project never eventuated but a version of the Cape York material probably appeared in the 'Computerised index of Aboriginal songs: Cape York area', by Moyle and Grace Koch. See Series 10 Items 8-9

Series 26 Miscellaneous tape documentation, 1959-94

The AIAS sound archive was first established at the University of Sydney in 1964, moving to Canberra in 1966. Alice Moyle was the guiding spirit in the formation of the archive. For a more detailed description of her work in this area see the introduction to Series 15.

This series includes notes on field tapes collected by Moyle and other, forms used by field workers, audition sheets, minute of meeting (1963) recommending need to establish a 'sound archive', list of tapes transferred to AIATSIS from Sydney University, reports, and correspondence. For related material see Series 15.

Item

- 1 Early documentation, 1959-65. Includes typescript notes on Moyle's first field tapes and disc collection; forms designed by Moyle for field workers and abbreviation for audition sheets, photocopy of 'Meeting of musicologists', by Chairman A.P. Elkin recommending the need to establish a 'Sound archive' as part of the AIAS, April 1963; and list of tapes transferred to AIAS from University of Sydney, 1965

- 2-3 Reports and memoranda, draft letters on procedures for the AIAS audiovisual archives, 1974-early 1980s. Also includes photocopies of a number of journal articles of interest to Moyle such as 'Digital audio in archives', paper presented by Ian Gilmour, ASRA Conference, c.1994
- 4-5 Miscellaneous AIAS reports, letters and handwritten notes [1960s] on the tape recordings of Les Hiatt, Kenneth Hale, T.G.H. Strehlow, Catherine Ellis, Father Peile, J. Mathers, W. Laade, C.G. von Brandenstein, Sandra Holmes, Jill Stubington, Marie Reay, A.W. Howitt and others
- 6 Audition sheets with handwritten entries and/or accompanying handwritten notes made by Moyle on the recorded collections of Geoffrey O'Grady, A.P. Elkin, and the Tasmanian Museum
- 7 'Tape documents'. Moyle's notes on tapes in the AIAS sound archive probably used as background material for the 'Handlist' plus general notes on lecture tapes on Aboriginal music. Also notebook labelled 're photocopied material etc...'K' recordings', 1994
- 8 Two 'Tudor' exercise notebooks containing transcriptions (including notation) of Alan West's conversations with Mick McLean, 1968, and supplement to A. West's recordings, as transcribed in January 1994
- 9 Australian exercise book and miscellaneous notes on Papua New Guinea field tapes held in Audiovisual Archives. See also Series 6 and Series 34 Item 15
- 10 List of singers and their language names. Roneoed and photocopied typescript, foolscap, n.d.

Series 27 IASA (Australia), 1978-87

IASA (Australia) is the National Branch of the International Association of Sound Archives. Alice Moyle along with ethnomusicologist, Grace Koch, was a member of the National Branch Committee during the 1980s.

The series includes constitutional drafts, correspondence and associated documents covering the debate about the formation of the national branches of IASA; Branch Committee meeting minutes and attachments (1983-85), IASA (Australia) Conference schedules and minutes of the National Conference Committee; IASA (Australia) Audio Cataloguing Standards Committee questionnaire and associated reports; IASA newsletters (1980), subscription list and reports; and miscellaneous papers from the international body in Berlin.

Item

- 1-2 Correspondence, minutes of meetings, reports, recommendations and notes documenting the debate about the formation of national branches of IASA, 1978-87. See also Series 27 Item 10
- 3 IASA (Australia) constitution drafts, 1980-84 (bulk 1983)
- 4-6 IASA Australian Branch minutes of meetings with associated agenda reports recommendations and notes, 1983-86
- 7 I.A.S.A. Australian Branch Newsletter, nos. 2, 24 and 25, with notebook containing a subscription list (1982), and papers relating to the production of the newsletter, 1983-86
- 8 IASA (Australia) conference programmes, 1980, 1984-87 with correspondence and notes
- 9 IASA (Australia) Audio Cataloguing Standards Committee. Includes draft letter and questionnaire, programme outline of the committee, and various working papers and/or reports on the cataloguing of sound recordings, music scores, 1981-82
- 10 IASA Annual General Meeting, Brussels, 7 July 1982. Includes agenda and minutes of the meeting and related papers. See also Series 29 Items 9-10
- 11 Miscellaneous papers from IASA parent body; the annual conference held in Stockholm, 1986, and minutes of the IASA Executive Board and Committee Chairpersons Meeting (Berlin), 12 September 1985
- 12 Miscellaneous articles and/or reports on National Recording Studios (Canberra), Videodisc Study (1982), and 'Sound recordings – the future', delivered by Victoria Rubensohn, n.d.

Series 28 MSA (ACT Chapter), 1978-93

The Musicological Society of Australia (MSA) exists to foster greater understanding and valuing of music, musical thinking and musical life. Founded in 1963 at the University of Sydney the MSA achieved full national status in 1976. It has state 'chapters' and is affiliated with the International Musicological Society (IMS) and the International Council for Traditional Music (ICTM).

The ACT Chapter of the MSA was established in 1978 to promote the aims of the MSA in the Australian Capital Territory and southern New South Wales. The committee met about four times a year with the Annual General meetings held within four months after the end of each financial year. Moyle was the 'Chairman' of this Committee in the late 1970s.

This series includes an incomplete set of minutes of meetings, a constitution (1979), correspondence to Moyle, reports, publicity leaflets publicising the ACT Chapter's activities, a 1978 mailing list, and miscellaneous handwritten notes by Moyle.

Item

- 1 1978. Notebook containing the Secretary's draft notes; mailing list; handwritten notes; and versions of the constitution
- 2 1979. Agenda, minutes of meetings, reports, and correspondence
- 3 1980. Miscellaneous handwritten notes, reports, and brief articles
- 4 1981. Mainly brief articles
- 5 1982. Agenda, minutes of meetings, publicity leaflets, and 'A proposal for a programme in musicology at the Australian National University', prepared by the ACT Chapter
- 6 1983-84. Agenda, minutes of meetings, publicity leaflets, newspaper clippings, and 'Issue and options: a discussion paper on the governance of ACT education (1984)
- 7 1989-93. Mainly publicity leaflets

Series 29 Miscellaneous conference material, 1977-84

This series includes correspondence, invitations, programme outlines, copies and drafts of papers, lists of delegates, and brochures relating to international and national conferences attended by Alice Moyle. Also included are a typescript list prepared by the Library of all conferences attended by Moyle transcribed from the labels of Moyle's original folders [Item 1], and 'Problem and solutions: occasional essays in musicology...Abstracts of papers', edited by Jamie C. Kassler and Jill Stubington [an honorary volume presented to Moyle at the 1982 ANZAAS Conference]. Full text version later published as Problems and solutions: occasional essays in musicology presented to Alice Moyle, 1984. Copy in Library at B K197.51/P1

Series 36 Diary notes and personal material, 1886-2005

This series includes diaries and notebooks of Moyle's maternal grandfather, the Rev. Hugh Kelly and his daughter, Moyle's mother, Margaretta (Netta/Douglas) Kelly (later Brown). The diaries highlight two voyages undertaken by the Netta Kelly's from New Zealand to Scotland via South Africa and Australia in the late 1800s. Correspondence in the series shows Moyle's involvement in the publication of a book on selected articles from the Age, by the Rev. Hugh Kelly, her approach to the study of music [referred to in letters from friend 'Nan'], and family matters.

There are also a few diary entries in exercise books documenting Moyle's travels and work, photocopies of Moyle's letters from the field to daughter Carolyn Lowry, photocopies of awards and significant photographs selected by Caroline Lowry, miscellaneous newspaper clippings, a few examples of the many address and daily diaries kept by Moyle, audio and typewriter equipment manuals, and a box in the Library's Ephemera Collections that houses Moyle's pitch pipes, pitch fork, AIAS identity badge, typewriter brush and eraser pencil.

Correspondents include Moyle, her mother, Auntie Edith (Malloch), Nan (Hunn?), her sister Margaret Thomson (in Northern Rhodesia), and Sir Bernard Heinze.

Series 37 Other papers

This series comprises a copy of the original finding aid to Moyle's papers, by Kathleen Oien prepared in 1996. Item 1 includes a listing of publications by others collected by Moyle mainly on the areas of ethnomusicology, anthropology, and the Australian Aborigines. These publications, along with others donated to the Library in 2003, have either been incorporated into the Library's general collections or offered to other collecting institutions.

In addition, there are newspaper clippings from various Australian newspapers (many undated) which were found throughout the material deposited in 2002/3 and placed together in three files by the Library. These clippings cover topics of interest to Moyle on philosophy, orchestral music, and ethnomusicology.

Open access.
