COLLECTION OVERVIEW

Scope and contents note

Don Siemon collected these papers during the period he worked for International Development Action (IDA) and the collection reflects his and IDA’s involvement at Aurukun.
Most of the collection relates to passage of the Queensland Government’s Aurukun Associates Agreement Act 1975 and the opposition to this legislation by the Aurukun Aboriginal community, IDA and other Non-Governmental Organisations, churches, unions and others. The collection includes press clippings, campaign material and correspondence.

Provenance

The Aurukun papers of Don Siemon were forwarded to the Australian Institute of Aboriginal Studies in 1996 by the Cape York Land Council Library. They were originally passed to the Land Council by Frank McKeown who had received them from Don Siemon, who requested that they be lodged in the Institute once relevant Aboriginal communities had finished with them.

Material separated from the collection

No material has been separated from the collection.

Related material

AIATSIS holds a further collection of IDA papers at MS 3800, Papers, International Development Action which includes drafts of IDA’s Mapoon Books, related correspondence, press clippings and other material.

For a complete list of material on Aurukun, IDA and related issues consult Mura®, the AIATSIS Collections Catalogue. For access to Audiovisual material contact Collections

Important: Before clicking on the links to the catalogue entries please read our sensitivity message.

Archivist’s note

The arrangement and description of the papers is modelled on a preliminary listing of the contents, completed soon after the collection arrived at AIATSIS in 2003. The sequence of the documents is roughly chronological. Some newspaper clippings and other documents are repeated across folders. Duplicates within folders have not been retained.

The access conditions for this collection were set by the Senior Archivist after contact with the donor over a period of twelve months, including phone calls and email messages, by the Senior Archivist, the volunteer who arranged and described this collection and compiled this finding aid, and the AIATSIS Rights Manager, did not elicit signed Deeds of Gift or Copyright. The most recent contacts, by email, did not elicit any response at all.

The provenance trail (outlined above) indicates that it was Don Siemon's intention that the collection come to AIATSIS. The contacts made by AIATSIS staff gave the donor the opportunity to withdraw the collection, in whole or in part, if he wanted. Reasonable attempts having been made, the Senior Archivist set the access conditions based on the collection content.

Most of the collection is material in the public domain; these series are open access. Series 1 Correspondence has been closed pending permission from the donor or the Director Collection Development and Management.

If the donor wishes to come to a different arrangement, he is urged to email manuscripts@aiatsis.gov.au

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Don Siemon is an Australian social policy advocate who was active in efforts to mobilise support for the Aurukun Aboriginal community in its dispute with the Queensland Government over proposed bauxite mining at Aurukun. Siemon was at the time working with International Development Action (IDA), a Melbourne-based NGO. Formed in 1970, IDA initially concentrated on overseas development issues but from 1973 focused increasingly on Australian Aboriginal communities.

In cooperation with the Aurukun community, Siemon and IDA implemented a campaign of representations to Federal politicians, the national media, unions and others, as well as engaging with like-minded NGOs and the wider general public. In so doing, IDA contributed to the movement that saw the Aurukun dispute come to national prominence. For backgrounding purposes, IDA produced a 'Dossier on the Proposed Mining at Aurukun', first circulated in November 1975. IDA also published the three volume Mapoon Books which dealt mainly with events after bauxite deposits were identified on the Mapoon Aboriginal reserve but also included material on issues arising from the bauxite deposits at Weipa and Aurukun.

After IDA, Don Siemon worked for community sector organisations in the overseas aid, environment, consumer, welfare and publishing fields before joining the Brotherhood of St Laurence in 1992 where he was Director, Social Action and Research. He has written or contributed to a range of publications on social inclusion issues, including poverty measurement, child care, social security policies, tax and budget policies, the provision and pricing of essential services, and the restructuring of human services. Siemon has also been and advisor to government and non-government bodies. He holds a Bachelor of Engineering and Master of Engineering Science from Monash University. Don Siemon's position in 2018 is Manager, Priority Cohorts, at the Victorian Department of Education and Training.
