Physical descrip: x, 150 p. ; 21 cm.
General Note: Includes index.
Bibliography note: Select bibliography : p. 141-147.
Annotation: "This book looks at the way in which dispute resolution processes can be developed to more effectively empower Aboriginal people and assist with the more equitable and satisfactory resolution of disputes between Aboriginal people and between Aboriginal people and other groups. It uses conflict around land, particularly at the intersection between land claim and native title as its focus. These have been identified through extensive field research. The book also explores the building of models of alternative dispute resolution processes based on Aboriginal cultural values and world views. It provides practical tools to practitioners who are seeking to find more effective ways of dealing with conflict in Aboriginal communities or between Aboriginal communities and other stakeholders."--Provided by publisher.

Relative clauses and possessive phrases in two Australian languages

Annotation: Shows that in both Dyirbal and Gumbainggar (data from Smythe 1948-49), possessive phrases can be dealt with as a special instance of the relative clause construction & that a common set of grammatical rules can be set up for the two languages, but with different conditions and slightly different ordering.

Physical descrip: 33 unnumbered pages : colour illustrations, portraits, charts ; 30 cm.
Annotation: Victorian Aboriginal Corporation for Languages has produced this series of factsheets to support communities working to revive their languages. These factsheets reflect what have been learned from the Meeting Point Project, which was run between 2008 and 2014. The project focussed on the ways revival languages are being brought back into communities by Elders, language workers and language activists. Factsheets are about these newly living languages, brought from past into present and future. We are very grateful to the people who have agreed to share examples of their languages with you in this way. Case study language programs: Wiradjuri (Parkes program), Butchulla (Hervey Bay), Keerray Woorroong (Warrnambool), Wathaurong (Geelong program), Gumbaynggirr (Nambucca Heads) and Gunai/Kârnan (Gippsland) were used to support the development of these factsheets.

Title: Gumma Indigenous Protected Area : Nambucca Heads, New South Wales : declared in November 2011.
Publication info: "2011.
Abstract: "From Nambucca River to islets on the edge of the Pacific Ocean, Gumma Indigenous Protected Area is an idyllic coastal haven. Just south of Nambucca Heads on the north coast of New South Wales, Gumma complements the esturine system for the adjacent Gaagal Wanggaan (South Beach) National Park on the eastern seaboard. To the west the Nambucca River separates Gumma from the mainland, creating a small peninsula. Three islets float at the mouth of the Nambucca River, creating a link between this protected area and the Pacific Ocean. Gumma is a calm aesthetic backdrop to the sprawl of urbanisation of Nambucca Heads." -- [Introduction from web page]

Series: (CAEPR working paper,ISSN1442-3871 ; no. 75/2010)
General Note: Title from title page of electronic document (viewed 17/10/11)
Partial contents: Introduction; Part one: The Banbai experience at Wattleridge Indigenous Protected Area; Part Two: The Nyambaga Green Team; Part three: Reflections on the case studies; References Annotation: This paper is about two New South Wales Aboriginal groups that are engaging Aboriginal people in looking after their country. In particular, it highlights the socioeconomic benefits such activity is generating for the people involved. Banbai Business Enterprises manages the first Indigenous Protected Area (IPA) in New South Wales, 'Wattleridge', on the New England Tablelands north east of Guyra, and is now also managing a second IPA, 'Tarriwa Kurrukun', on land owned by the Guyra Local Aboriginal Land Council. The Nyambaga Green Team operates from the Ngurrala Aboriginal Corporation near Macksville, New South Wales. The Nyambaga Green Team successfully sustains itself through a mix of contracts with a range of natural resource management and other bodies which it carries out on a commercial basis. At both locations a diverse range of significant cultural, social and economic benefits are emerging which the paper outlines. It then discusses some of the factors and conditions for success in these ventures and reflects briefly on the policy implications [taken from abstract]

Title: Dreaming the past : the Lindt story at the Grafton Regional Gallery / Grafton Regional Gallery; [editor : Jude McBean]
Annotation: "The title Dreaming the Past, refers to thinking and visualising the late 19th century in the Clarence Valley through the photographs of John William Lindt. In 2004 Sam and Janet Cullen and family gifted a collection of thirty-seven albumen paper photographs by John William Lindt (1845 - 1926). This gift changed the direction of the Grafton Regional Gallery and all who were associated with the gift. As predicted at the time the change has been significant and very positive and this is the Lindt story, the story that this book aims to tell. The Aboriginal community of the Clarence Valley and the North Coast, the people of the Bundjalung, Gumbaynggirr and Yaegl nations, embraced the gift and have been very supportive and involved throughout the story. This, along with their guidance, has ensured the success of the gifting and subsequent series of events and projects, including the Lindt Research Project and the publication of this book."--P. 7.
