Subject: "Derek Pugh has written an admirable book on two counts. It is a rattling good yarn and at the same time it is a fine teacher's handbook. From the moment he takes the momentous decision to accept a teaching position at Maningrida, in remote Arnhem Land, Australia, Derek develops the best possible tactics in such situations. Don't throw your weight around too much; learn from the locals; don't have too big an opinion of yourself; be a good listener and, as Monty Python would tell us, "Always Look on the Bright Side of Life"." - Foreword. Title: Kaddikkaddik ka-wokdjanganj 'Kaddikkaddik Spoke': language and music of the Kun-barlang
Kaddikkaddik songs from Western Arnhem Land / Isabel O'Keefe
Imprint: 2010
Annotation: "Kaddikkaddik 'oyster catcher' songs are an endangered set of individually owned, didjeridu-accompanied songs, sung predominantly in Kun-barlang, a Gunwinjguan language from Western Arnhem Land. Performances of Kaddikkaddik 'oyster catcher' songs display considerable textual and musical variation. Berndt suggests that despite this variation there is a distinctive 'sound' that allows listeners to identify the songs, but admits that further musicological analysis is needed. In this paper I seek to address this need, and to evaluate the idea of a distinctive sound, by providing a musical and linguistic analysis of recorded Kaddikkaddik song performances. I outline variations that occur in the songs and note features of the songs that are distinctive within the wider musical and linguistic context of Western Arnhem Land."

Title: Community profile : Gunbalanya (Oenpelli)
Publication info: Canberra : Remote Area Health Corps, 2010
Physical descrip: 7 p. : col. ill., maps ; 29 cm
Gunbalanya is located in West Arnhem Land approximately 330 km east of Darwin and at the edge of Kakadu National Park. The population is approximately 1500 people in and out of town. Before 1900 the main Aboriginal people living at Gunbalanya escarpment were the Mengerr, Erre, Wuningak, Gagudju and the Amurdak people. The traditional territory of the Kunwinjku people stretches from the upper reaches of Cooper Creek, north of Narbalek towards the Liverpool River and south west to the area of Maningrida. The Mengerr lived in the Injalak area and were the original Gunbalanya group. These groups spoke their own language within their lands and related to one another through the common Kunwinjku language. In about 1900, European buffalo hunters arrived in the area bringing with them western goods such as tobacco, sugar, and alcohol to trade for access and buffalo hides. Other people of Western Arnhem Land, the Gunbalang, Maung, Ngumbur, Dangbon, Gundjehmi and Karik peoples, made their way westwards towards buffalo camps and new mining settlements attracted by the supply of western goods and education for their children. Some chose to live in the camps or on newly established cattle stations. While Kunwinjku is the name of the language, the people refer to themselves as Birriwinjku which means 'freshwater people.' Gunbalanya is the Kunwinjku name for the area although the more traditional spelling of Kunbarljaninja is the legal trading name for the community council. After World War One the community was taken over by the Church Missionary Society who established gardening, livestock management, as well as health care and education facilities. After the introduction of self determination policies in the 1970's the Missions withdrew and a local council was established in 1976. The health centre is staffed by a General Practitioner, four Registered Nurses and up to five Aboriginal Health Workers. -- Taken from p. 5

Annotation: Part of a set of twenty five community profiles that provide information for medical professionals seeking employment in Aboriginal communities in the Northern Territory.

Title: Bininj Kunwok : kunwok dja mankarre kadberre=our language, our culture
Publication info: Bininj Gunwok Project, 2014
Physical descrip: 1 online resource : colour illustrations, photographs, map
Abstract: “This website has fully searchable menus containing information in the form of text, images and spoken words in the various languages of the people from this region; also includes information about the culture and environment with English translations. Bininj Gunwok is a name used for a chain of six mutually intelligible dialects which stretch from Kakadu National Park in the Top End of the Northern Territory south to Pine Creek and Manyallaluk, across the Arnhem Land plateau and east to the Mann, Liverpool and Cadell Rivers districts and as far east as some outstations south of Ramingining in central Arnhem Land. Bininj Gunwok is perhaps best known in the anthropological literature by the name of one of its dialects, namely Kunwinjku (spelt ‘Gunwinggu’ before the development of a standard practical orthography). The terms used by the speakers of each of the six dialects for the name of their particular dialectal varieties are - Kunwinjku, Kuninjku, Gundjejhimhi, Kundedjjenjenghmi, Kune and Mayali. The audio tracks were made by Murray Garde for learner's of Bininj Kunwok.” [Nawu Njale? - About]
