This is an Affirmative Measures opportunity open to Aboriginal and/Torres Strait Islander people only

Who we are

We are Australia's only national institution focused exclusively on the diverse history, cultures, and heritage of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australia. We house the world's most important and extensive collection of cultural information and material and we provide leadership, publish and promote greater understanding and appreciation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. We create opportunities for people the world over to engage with and be transformed by the knowledge, the culture and the story of Australia's Indigenous peoples. We are Australia's national institution for leadership in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander research.

What we do

We care for a priceless collection, including films, photographs, video and audio recordings as well as the world's largest collection of printed and other resource materials for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander studies. We undertake and encourage scholarly, ethical, community-based research in a variety of sectors, including health, native title, languages and education. Our publishing house, Aboriginal Studies Press, regularly publishes outstanding writing that promotes Australian Indigenous cultures. Our activities affirm and raise awareness of the richness and diversity of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures and histories.

What we are trying to achieve

Our functions are established under the Australian Institute of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Studies Act 1989.

These functions are to:

- develop, preserve and provide access to a national collection of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and heritage;
- use that national collection to strengthen and promote knowledge and understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and heritage;
- provide leadership in the fields of:
 - Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander research; and
 - ethics and protocols for research, and other activities relating to collections, related to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples; and use (including use for research) of that national collection and other collections containing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and heritage;
- lead and promote collaborations and partnerships among the academic, research, non-government, business and government sectors and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in support of the other functions of the Institute;

- provide advice to the Commonwealth on the situation and status of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and heritage.

We are an Australian Government statutory authority. The Minister responsible for AIATSIS is the Hon Ken Wyatt AM, Minister for Indigenous Australians, and it sits within the portfolio of the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet.

About the Program Area

The Descriptive Metadata and Cataloguing team is part of the AIATSIS Collections Development and Management Program.

The Descriptive Metadata and Cataloguing team is responsible for the management of the printed and published collections, such as books, serials, maps, posters, video, grey literature and sound recordings under the care of AIATSIS. The team is responsible descriptive cataloguing standards in bibliographic records, collection management and logistics. The team also undertakes the collection care, housing, and associated tasks for the published and unpublished collections. The team is also responsible for construction and usage of the name, place and subject Authorities and the continual development of the AIATSIS pathways thesauri. Catalogue records are made available to the public via the AIATSIS online catalogue, Mura, and can also be found by searching on the National Library of Australia's Trove service.

About the Role

The Assistant Collections Officer will participate in projects which would require knowledge of original materials handling, collection housing, appropriate collection storage and an ability to assess material for its relevance to the collection. The Assistant Collections Officer also assists with retrieval of collection materials for library clients on a rostered basis. The Assistant Collections Officer may also undertake copy cataloguing of materials, following established cataloguing standards, and can expect to work on a broad range on material formats.

This position reports to the Senior Collections Officer.

This position will be filled using the Affirmative Measure provision, which allows for the targeted recruitment of Indigenous Australians into the Australian Public Service. The vacancy is only open to Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander people. The filling of this employment opportunity is intended to constitute an Affirmative Measure under section 8(1) of the Racial Discrimination Act 1975.

Our ideal candidate

The ideal candidate will have:

- An understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander business within the agency and the outcomes the agency is responsible for delivering
- An ability to communicate respectfully with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander stakeholders, clients, and colleagues
- An understanding of the current issues facing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and how this is framed by history
- The ability to gain an understanding of Indigenous Cultural and Intellectual Property Rights and the interests of Indigenous peoples when cataloguing material containing Indigenous cultural heritage
- The ability to conduct basic research and analysis, determine where to find information and how it is best used
- Excellent attention to detail
- The ability to prioritise own work and respond flexibly to changes in the workplace
- The ability to communicate clearly, including using appropriate language and structuring communication to ensure clarity

What we offer

Opportunities for further education, professional development and study assistance will be available. You can also expect personal development planning activities and to work in a supportive learning environment.

We understand that you will work best when you have a healthy work-life balance and can attend to your family commitments. We offer flexible working conditions, competitive leave entitlements and health and wellbeing programs.

How to apply

If this sounds like the opportunity you are looking for, we want to hear from you! Send your completed application to recruitment@aiatsis.gov.au by 11.59pm on Friday 29 January 2021.

- Referring to 'Our Ideal Candidate', provide a succinct summary (no more than 1550 words) outlining your skills, knowledge and experience demonstrating why you should be considered for this role.
- Complete the enclosed application form.
- Attach your resume, covering your personal details, education and qualifications, work and other relevant experience.

What should I include in my supporting statement?

Your application should be brief and align to the requirements specified in the vacancy information published on our website. Generally, we do not use selection criteria for applications unless they are specific technical requirements.

How will my application be assessed?

You will be assessed on your resume and your response to 'Our Ideal Candidate'. Your response should be succinct and demonstrate your ability to meet the requirements of the job and should complement your resume. Your resume should be comprehensive enough to show that you have the experience and/or qualifications to undertake the duties and responsibilities of the job. Because this is an Affirmative Measures and Identified position your resume should include your knowledge of and experience with Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander cultures, issues, communities and engagement.

If you need assistance developing your response you may want to refer to the applying for jobs on the Australian Public Service Commission website:

<http://www.apsc.gov.au/working-in-the-aps/applying-for-jobs-in-the-aps>

A selection decision may be based solely on your written application and referee reports, and it is the quality, rather than the quantity of your written submissions that is the most critical factor.

Your cultural competency will carry more weight than other factors in the assessment. These requirements are based on the information provided to you as part of the job opportunity.

Your referees may also be contacted at any stage of the assessment process to validate your claims. For this reason it is important that you advise them that you have applied for a role at AIATSIS, and that you feel confident they will be able to support your application.

FAQ

What are Affirmative Measures and Identified Positions?

The Australian Public Service (APS) advertises some jobs as Affirmative Measures and/or Identified positions. The two classifications are similar but serve different purposes.

Affirmative Measures positions

Jobs in the APS are open to all Australian citizens. There are some jobs, though, that are open only to specific members of the Australian population. This practice is known as an Affirmative measure, and is a targeted strategy to ensure the diversity of the APS workforce reflects the diversity of the Australian population.

Any job can be restricted to Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander people only, and it doesn't necessarily have to involve working on Indigenous issues. If a position has been advertised as an Affirmative measure, it will be clearly marked as such.¹

The use of the Indigenous Affirmative Measures provision at AIATSIS allows for targeted recruitment of Indigenous Australians into the organisation. If you are applying for an Affirmative Measures position, you will need to indicate your Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander heritage on our application form and provide confirmation if required.

Identified positions

Identified positions are roles that require people to have an understanding of the issues affecting Indigenous Australians and a proven ability to communicate sensitively with them. These requirements are generally for jobs that involve providing services or developing policies for Indigenous Australians, and/or direct interaction with Indigenous communities.

Identified positions are crucial in ensuring that the APS has the right people working on initiatives to improve the delivery of services and close the gap between Indigenous and non-Indigenous Australians, and are open to all Australian citizens².

At AIATSIS all positions are Identified positions where candidates are required to demonstrate an understanding of the diversity of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, their cultures, and their issues and to be able to communicate respectfully with them.

You must provide the name and contact details of an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander referee. This referee will be contacted to determine your cultural capability.

² <https://www.apsc.gov.au/indigenous-employmentaffirmative-measure-and-identified-positions>

What is Cultural Capability?

As all positions at AIATSIS are 'Identified' each position will have various elements of involvement with the delivery of Indigenous specific services, programs and policies as part of AIATSIS core functions. AIATSIS therefore needs to also identify the cultural knowledge; skills and personal attributes needed to deliver the required outcomes.

Every part of how we work, who we work with and for, requires varying levels of knowledge of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures, protocols and an understanding of issues that enable effective communication and ultimately effective performance in the role. To assist you in determining the required cultural capabilities of this role, you can refer to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Cultural Capability – A Framework for Commonwealth Agencies
