Contents

The Politics of a Racist Game ........................................ v
Preface ........................................................................ vii
Acknowledgements ...................................................... x
Contributors ................................................................ xi
Introduction: Can Indigenous Peoples’ Experiences of Colonisation Reshape our Constitutional Language?
Barbara Ann Hocking .................................................. xv

1. ‘Indigenous Self-determination in the Commonwealth of Nations’ Helen Whall .................................................. 1

2. Self-determination or ‘Deep Colonising’: Land Claims,
Colonial Authority and Indigenous Representation
John Bradley and Kathryn Seton ................................. 32

3. Consensus and Sovereignty: Rethinking Policing in the Light of Indigenous Self-determination Chris Cunneen .......... 47

4. Patriarchal Whiteness, Self-determination and Indigenous Women: The Invisibility of Structural Privilege and the Visibility of Oppression Aileen Moreton-Robinson ...... 61

5. Trust, Truth and Fatuity Philip Morrissey ................. 74

6. Why Norfolk Island But Not Aborigines? Michael Mansell 82

7. Maori Legal Forum: Representation Issues and the Maori
Land Court Andrew Erueti ........................................ 93

8. Indigenous Political Representation: Identified Parliamentary
Seats as a Form of Indigenous Self-determination
Catherine J Iorns Magallanes ..................................... 106

9. Indigenous State Relations in Aotearoa/New Zealand:
A Contractual Approach to Self-determination
John Buick-Constable .............................................. 118

10. Kanaka Maoli: Right of Self-determination Joshua Cooper 133

11. The Search for a More Appropriate Form of Government in Solomon Islands Jennifer Corrin Care .................. 159

12. Indigenous Self-determination. Is Canada As Good
As It Gets? Peter H. Russell ...................................... 170
13. Indigeneity, Self-determination and Sovereignty  Anne Waters 190
15. Sovereignty as a Trojan Horse: How the Convention on Biological Diversity Morphs Biopiracy into Biofraud  Joseph Henry Vogel 228
Conclusion. ‘A Change Of Sovereignty’: During the Age of Empire  Barbara J Hocking 277
Index 280