In 1964, the eyes of the nation were fixed on its Western Desert: the British and Australian governments were about to fire the controversial Blue Streak rockets across the inland. To the ministers in Canberra and London this was an ideal target range: empty desert, a place they called the 'dump zone'. But to one seventeen-year-old girl and her family, it was home. Cleared Out is the extraordinary story of the events of that winter.

Determinations

There have been no determinations of native title from 30th September to 4 November 2005. However, Justice Mansfield has made a determination of matters outstanding in the Gawarrin Gumana (Blue Mud Bay) native title determination following the death of the trial judge, Justice Selway. This determination addresses the following matters:

- 1) whether the public right to fish extended to non-navigable sections of the inter-tidal zone, so that non-exclusive native title rights only could be exercised in those areas;
- (2) the extent of the native title rights to trade in the resources of the inter-tidal zone;
- (3) the extent of the native title rights to control or regulate access to particular parts of the inter-tidal zone;
- (4) the manner of expressing the other interests in the claim area, required to be described in the determination by s 225 of the Native Title Act; and
- (5) how the rights of those holding fishing licences under the Fisheries Act 1988 should be referred to.
